"MILITARY PRICE INCREASE INSTRUCTIONS"

IMPORTANT - READ CAREFULLY - REQUIRES ACTION

As the Customer Letter indicates, "No shipments in 1992 will be made after December 29. Orders received by Customer Services for shipment after December 29, 1992, will not be shipped until January 4, 1993, and will be invoiced at the new prices."

Strive to obtain all orders for shipment during the latter part of December, before the 29th. Sufficient inventories should be available to compensate for RJRT's policy of no shipments to Military accounts after that date, at old prices. This will also greatly assist in a smooth transition with this price increase for RJRT and the Military.

Defense Commissary Agency (DeCA)

DeCA - Army Commissaries

These commissaries are not on the "Computerized Central Pricing System" from their Regional Headquarters. All Army Commissaries must manually enter new prices into the computer pricing system at store level, no later than December 10, 1992, for prices to be effective January 1, 1993. It is imperative that an RJRT representative ensure the above is accomplished to include those stores where orders are placed by a DeCA commissary employee. A clerk in the Control/Computer section is the point of contact in the commissary for making the price changes.

DeCA - Air Force and Navy Commissaries

For all Air Force and Navy Commissaries (Pearl Harbor and Charleston, SC), new prices will be handled at the appropriate DeCA Region. New prices will be communicated to these stores via the "Computerized Central Pricing System" from the DeCA Region Headquarters, to be effective January 1, 1993.

IMPORTANT

As noted above, strive to obtain orders for shipment during the latter part of December, before the 29th.

In some instances, commissary "Computer Order Print Outs" (R.O.R.'s) will not show the new prices until the first day of business in January 1993. This may necessitate a call on the commissary the first week of January to place orders at the new prices.

Army Air Force Exchange Service (AAFES)

AAFES Headquarters will provide instructions to their direct stores and warehouses about the price increase. It is suggested you follow through locally with the appropriate contact to ensure for a smooth transition.

Navy Exchange Command (NEXCOM)

Navy Headquarters will also provide instructions to their direct stores and warehouses about the price increase. You should also follow through locally to ensure a smooth transition.

Marine Corps Exchanges (MCS), U.S. Coast Guard Exchanges (CGES)

Follow through locally with each exchange to ensure a smooth transition.
